PUBLICATION DATES AND PROCESS

Once the Editors have successfully received a manuscript it will be immediately screened by the Editors to ensure that the minimum procedural criteria have been satisfied. The Editors aim to notify contributors of the outcome of this review within one week.

All manuscripts successful beyond the initial review are forwarded to an expert in a given area of law. Once the first reviewer recommends the article for publication, the manuscript is forwarded to a second reviewer for commentary.

Once the article has been through the peer review process, the Editors will make a final decision on whether to make the author a conditional publication offer. Should the author accept, the article will become the official copyright of VULJ.

Contributors will be able to track the publication process via our website. Further details are available on our website: vulj.vu.edu.au.
